About the Instructor

Diane Miller is an attorney devoting her life work to the vision of health freedom. As Legal and Public Policy director for National Health Freedom Coalition, Miller works to develop and support effective health freedom leadership throughout the US and internationally. Her role as a solid resource for state and national groups drafting and implementing new laws, and her participation and drafting of reports regarding the codex Alimentarius Annual Commission meetings, allows her to speak effectively to a multitude of health freedom issues and strategies for change.

New Legislative information will be included!

Instructor Diane Miller, Attorney, has designed this seminar to help practitioners become familiar with this law and its requirements. In this seminar you will have the opportunity to ask Diane Miller specific questions related to this law and your practice.
